Il Quadro Di Troisi is a project by Eva Geist and Donato Dozzy, born from the correspondence between the two artists on the late actor and director Massimo Troisi.

This exchange soon became an inspirational source of identification that intertwined with the project, whose lyrics are sensitive and multifaceted, fitting perfectly into musical phrases and flowing like a cinematic monologue drawn from Troisi's own work.

Their self-titled debut LP (released in October 2020 as a collaboration between the Raster label and the Terraforma Festival) is a colorful ode to a fragrant Italian vision, brimming with details and deep intensity.

Entire decades of national music history are understood and transformed into the present as the duo draws inspiration from their classic Italo-disco and Synth Pop heritage.

In 2023, the former duo officially becomes a trio with the stable entry of Pietro Micioni, and in October of the same year, they release "remixes" on Raster, an eclectic collection of reinterpretations of 8 songs from their debut album.

On March 29 2024, four years after the first one, the band will release "La Commedia", its highly anticipated second album, out on Raster / 42 records.
