Swiss producer and DJ, NVST doesn't fear putting the crowd in 'uncomfortable' positions, defying what they think they know. Her style thrives on the clash of genres and textures, which come together as a raw, acidic unity that demands a frenetic dance ritual. Hailing from the Swiss illegal party scene, the values that move NVST's approach to DJing remain distant from conventionalism and commercial approaches. Beyond her passion for DJing, NVST is an active militant for the development and preservation of electronic music in Switzerland.

NVST is spinning multiple plates, as part of both the Statement crew and Female:Pressure family, meanwhile co-running the French label Big Science and holding residencies on LYLRadio, Rinse FM, and EOS radio.

In past months, she's been busy releasing an LP and an album on Big Science, as well as an EP on Serious Trouble. Following the release of her debut album, Drum in the Bass of Attention, there are whispers of more productions to come later this year. We wait in anticipation for her next moves, stay tuned.
